

Is there any safe place for a new born in the whole wide world?

Question appropriate, when we are reeking with a pandemic

Definitely, I do not want to debate

That there is no better place to rest

Not even, calm a nursery one can find

Than that of the soft mother's breast close to her heart

The world breastfeeding week is observed every year

The first week of August is dedicated for this goal

To inspire, protect, encourage and hear

The mothers who are breastfeeding and every soul

To promote a positive breastfeeding culture

So let us support this tradition for a better tomorrow

The theme for this year is 'Breastfeeding for a Healthier Planet'

Clarion call for all mothers and others alike

To showcase the benefits of breastfeeding

The best gift that a mother could give her new born

With all the additional bonuses that come its way

For an ever strong, enduring and lasting bond

No words in the world can ever define

No rhymed poetry can ever describe

No song so popular can ever bring justice

No genre of novel can ever discuss

The 'Love' that is expressed

When your little one is nursed

Oh, Mother! Don't you ever hesitate

To feed your baby with the best food manufactured within yourself

Do not get wavered with catchy advertisements

Be aware that no formula proved equal to breast milk

Remember is not only your right but even more your baby's

To be nourished and nurtured with the best of the best!

Breast milk is thus rightly called 'Liquid gold'

Some even call it the 'Elixir of life'

How else could you describe?

A blessing to human life

That fuels the energy to behold

Life that becomes your future!
